FAMILY PERSPECTIVE: Today's gospel guarantees if we "ask" we will "receive," perhaps not what we wanted but what our Heavenly Father knows is best for us, God's children. All the love we have for our children, God has for us - and more. As our children trust us, we must trust "Our Father."

I recently read a speech by Pope Francis, given on the 50th anniversary of the death of Pope John XXIII. Following are some excerpts from that speech. They give some interesting insight into the faith of soon-to-be-canonized Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli, who many of us remember lovingly. In addition, they provide food for thought that we can apply to our own spiritual journeys.

The life of Blessed John XXIII is a lesson in how obedience and trust in God lead to an interior peace that is naturally recognized by and shared with others, Pope Francis said. Joining a pilgrimage of 3,000 people from the late pope's home diocese – Bergamo, Italy – Pope Francis prayed at the tomb of Blessed John June 3, the 50th anniversary of his death. Pope Francis told the pilgrims, "The whole world had recognized Pope John as a pastor and father, a pastor because he was a father." Blessed John was and still is referred to by many as "the good pope," Pope Francis said. "It is so beautiful to find a priest, a good priest, filled with goodness." Blessed John was "an effective weaver of relationships and a solid champion of unity, both in the ecclesiastical community and outside it," the pope said. He was "open to dialogue with the Christians of other churches, with representatives of the Jewish and Muslim worlds and with many other people of good will."

Pope Francis said: "Indeed, Pope John conveyed peace because his mind was profoundly at peace: He had let the Holy Spirit create peace within him. And this mind filled with peace was the result of long and challenging work on himself, abundant traces of which have been left in the personal Journal of a Soul."

In it we see Roncalli – the seminarian, the priest, the bishop – coming to grips with the gradual process of purification of the heart. We see him, day by day, taking pains to recognize and mortify the desires that stemmed from his own selfishness and to discern the inspirations of the Lord, letting himself be guided by wise spiritual directors and be inspired by teachers such as St. Francis de Sales and St. Charles Borromeo.

In reading these writing we truly see a soul being formed under the action of the Holy Spirit, who works in his church, in souls: It was the Spirit himself who, with these good inclinations, brought peace to Roncalli's soul.

Here we come to the second and crucial word: obedience. Although peacefulness was his external feature, Roncalli's inner disposition consisted of obedience. Obedience, in fact, was his means for attaining peace.

First of all it had a very simple and practical meaning: carrying out in the church the service that his superiors asked of him, seeking nothing for himself, not shrinking from anything requested of him even when it meant leaving his homeland to face worlds unknown to him and staying long years in places where Catholics were few and far between.

This is a lesson for each one of us but also for the church of our time: If we let ourselves be led by the Holy Spirit, if we are able to mortify our selfishness to make room for the Lord's love and for his will, we will find peace, we will be builders of peace and will spread peace around us."

Pope Francis said Pope John's decision to convoke the Second Vatican Council, which opened in October 1962, was the result of a "prophetic intuition" based on his "love for the church's tradition and his awareness of the constant need for renewal." The council and Pope John's "offering of his life for its success," he said, are "a bright beacon for the journey that lies ahead."

Peace, Fr. Tom

Gracias a todos los que asisten a nuestras misas en español los domingos a las once y media por su dedicación y compromiso con nuestra fe. Estoy agradecido especialmente al Padre Norberto y al Padre Bart por su ayuda. Según "Nuestra Fe, Nuestro Futuro", el plan de la diócesis, ahora yo tengo la responsabilidad de las iglesias de San Gregorio y de Nuestra Señora de Fátima en Shelby. San Vincente, Pentwater y San José, Weare un día también serán la responsabilidad mía como párroco. Porque ustedes están fuertes en su fe y su dedicación a su comunidad eclesial, estoy predicando en inglés en Nuestra Señora de Fátima en Shelby donde la comunidad de fe tiene mucha fragilidad y se sienten heridos y lastimados por los cambios. Así es, como un miembro de cualquiera familia con problemas, este verano, ellos reciben la ayuda y atención mía. Gracias de nuevo por la dedicación, fuerza y paciencia que tienen y que muestran.

Paz, Padre Tomás

SOLIDARIDAD CON LOS AGRICULTORES

Los líderes de cuatro organizaciones católicas enviaron cartas en referencia a la Propuesta de Ley de Granjas de 2013 a los comités de agricultura del Senado y la Cámara de Representantes.

"Es un momento crucial para construir un marco de referencia más justo que da prioridad a los más pobres, sirve a las granjas familiares pequeñas y promueve un administración sostenible de los recursos", escribieron el obispo Stephen Blaire de Stockton, California, el obispo Richard E. Pates de Des Moines, Iowa; el padre Larry Snyder, presidente de Caridades Católicas de Estados Unidos, Carolyn Woo, presidenta de Catholic Relief Services y James Ennis, director ejecutivo de la Conferencia Católica de Vida Rural.

Las cartas enumeraron cinco prioridades para la Propuesta de Ley:

- Apoyo del Programa de Ayuda para la Nutrición, conocido como "estampillas de alimentos" y otros programas para aliviar el hambre.
- Protección de fondos de ayuda de emergencia internacional y proyectos de desarrollo.
- Subsidios para granjeros que necesitan ayuda y que mantienen prácticas ecológicas y sostenibles.
- Promoción de programas para agricultores para ayudar a conservar agua, energía y hábitats para animales.
- Apoyo para programas que ayudan al desarrollo de comunidades urbanas.

En este mes de cosechas y recogida de frutos, las llamadas de los líderes católicos invitan a la solidaridad de toda la comunidad cristiana.
